

NATHALY STANLEY

Sustainability and Certifications Manager,
Bucuti & Tara Beach
Resort, Aruba

ABOUT NATHALY

Nathaly Stanley leads the sustainability efforts at Bucuti & Tara Beach Resort, the Caribbean's first Carbon Neutral resort. She joined the resort full-time in October of 2016 as Sustainability and Certifications Manager, in time to be at the forefront of successful initiatives for recertification of the resort's eco-certifications. Stanley holds dual college degrees. As a graduate of the University of Aruba, she earned a bachelor's degree in International Tourism Management. Following that, she earned a bachelor's degree in Environmental Studies at the University of Central Florida. Stanley first worked with Bucuti while completing an internship in sustainable tourism. She's conducted research with Aruba's non-profit, Turtugaruba, studying the endangered sea turtles that nest on-island, shadowed a marine biologist working to protect sea turtles in Florida, and worked at the Aruba Animal Shelter. Stanley dedicates her time working to protect the future of the One Happy Island.

BUCUTI & TARA BEACH RESORT

Aruba's only boutique resort catering exclusively to adults (18+). The European-inspired, 104-room resort has welcomed couples for over thirty years to an unrivaled and tranquil beach experience set in a most romantic atmosphere. The resort is highly ranked by Tripadvisor; at number 1 for romance in the Caribbean since 2005, number 1 in the Caribbean for Service, and is a Green Leader Platinum member. The resort is highly committed to sustainability. In August 2018, Bucuti & Tara achieved becoming the first CarbonNeutral® Resort hotel in the Caribbean. Bucuti & Tara continues to prove that a memorable vacation and sustainability are mutually-inclusive.
